

Nelson Mandela once said, “The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall.” Write an essay that is at least 3 paragraphs in length about a time you “fell” (such as failing at something, struggling to reach a goal, etc.) and had to get back up. Make sure your essay includes details about the situation (what happened, how you felt) and any consequences that followed.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.